

GOVERNOR ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER

PROCLAMATION

California stands among the world's leading economies, and a clean environment is a large part of our state's economic vitality.

The restoration and preservation of our beaches, valleys, mountains, deserts and atmosphere help foster a productive workforce and healthy society. A dedicated effort to protect our ecological resources will help our state become even more efficient and industrious.

Initiated in 1993, Pollution Prevention Week is an opportunity for the government to work together with economic and community groups, as well as the citizenry at large to maintain and improve the natural wonders and beautiful landmarks in our Golden State. I urge all citizens and businesses to celebrate the majestic landscapes of California and recognize the importance of preserving our environment for future generations.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER, Governor of the State of California, do hereby proclaim September 19-25, 2005, as "Pollution Prevention Week."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have here unto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 13th day of September 2005.
